10. Brief the proceedings of the programme along with some photographs

The Programme started with our librarian's welcome address. After she introduced the resource person, the principal addressed the gathering. He spoke about importance of maintaining research profiles for scholars and faculty. Dr. Ramasamy explained and demonstrated the registration and maintaining research profiles in the various research profile systems like Google scholar, Scopus, Research gate, ORCID etc., and the tools and advantages in maintaining such profiles. In the next session which followed, there was active participation in the form of questions to the resource person who cleared all their doubts. Some of our faculty members gave their feedback on stage in which they mentioned commonly that they needed many programmes like this to update their knowledge on better visibility on the web to develop professionally and that the programme was very useful. The Programme came to an end with a vote of thanks by the librarian and national anthem.
